Officials enlist aid to solve problems

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Romulus officials may be enlisting the aid of the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to promote a "new" homesteading act in the community.

Mayor Terry L. Troutt, City Council President Joan A. Lee and City Attorney William S. Munger will be journeying to Washington D. C. today at the request of HUD officials to air their opinions on means to resolve problems with abandoned housing.

Romulus officials, particularly Mrs. Lee, will have a good first-hand experience with the situation, since the Meadows Subdivision in southeastern Romulus has 80 abandoned homes, and the number is expected to increase next month.

Mrs. Lee lives in the subdivision and campaigned for office in 1973 on cleaning up the blighted areas caused by abandoned homes.

Troutt Friday said he hopes Romulus is selected as a pilot community for a new homesteading act which will allow persons to acquire abandoned housing providing they clean up the structure and maintain it in a respectable manner.

"The program has been going on for some time actually," Troutt said. "But it hasn't worked the way it was intended."

Detroit, with thousands of abandoned housing units, was the site of homesteading plans, but the program has proven unsuccessful to date.

Troutt added that the Romulus program is expected to increase next month if trends from past year's continue.

"In the past persons abandoned their homes in large numbers right after the school year," Troutt said. "Everyone knows that the school year has ended, and we're waiting to see if it will cause increased abandonment in the next month."

HUD maintains responsibility for a majority of the structures since the purchases are financed with Federal Housing Administration (FHA) backed loans.

If the purchaser abandons payments for his home, then HUD agrees to pay back the banking institution which loaned the money and then assumes control of the structure.

The Meadows area, bounded on the north by Eureka Road and on the west by Middle Belt Road, is the worst in Romulus, officials said.

Hundreds of homes were financed for construction and purchase under an FHA low-cost mortgage program which allowed homeowners to purchase the structures at monthly payments ranging up to $125 with FHA paying the difference.

To qualify for the program, purchasers had to prove their incomes were under a low income ceiling set by the FHA.

Despite the arrangements, however, many families failed to meet payments and left the structures or were forced to leave after missing payments.

Meldrum to run for mayor

A former appointed official from the City of Romulus will seek the top post in the city in the 1975 elections.

Clayton W. Meldrum, 55, director of building and safety for the city from 1970 to 1973, will run for the mayor's post in the Sept. 9 primary election.

"I feel I have a lot to offer in the area of budget reform and aid to senior citizens, and that I should come forward," Meldrum said in announcing his candidacy. "I intend to run a clean campaign based on what I have to offer by my experience, and not on tearing down other candidates."

A 35-year resident of the city, Meldrum is married and the father of five children. He has six grandchildren.

Prior to operating the Building and Safety Department, Meldrum was owner of the Mel Malone Electrical Contractors firm, serving as its president prior to taking the Romulus post.

He also worked 12 years with the McClouth Steel Corp., serving as director of maintenance and supervising 147 employees.

He presently is foreman of maintenance for the Romulus School District.

The candidate's campaign will be based on taking the tax burden for operating Romulus from the voters and putting it on Detroit Metropolitan Airport, he said.

"Every other major airport in the nation has a departure tax on planes leaving the ground, and that tax is used to finance services," Meldrum added. "However Metropolitan Airport lacks such an arrangement."

"If such a tax could be established, it would do away with a need to increase taxes while adding the possibility of lowering them."

"For years city officials have been fighting the airport, but it's here to stay and I intend to utilize it to the best extent for this community by working hand-in-hand with its operators for the benefit of Romulus residents."

With added taxes from the airport Meldrum believes he can bolster the Romulus Fire Department by purchasing equipment and can offer an increased slate of senior citizen services.

"I view the mayoral post as being director of a large corporation with the voters as the stockholders," Meldrum said. "If chosen to run the corporation of Romulus, I'll do my best to offer a good return to the stockholders."

"I've fought for people all my life, and intend to continue."

With Distinguished Service Award

Jaycees recognize, honor 2 social workers

Two Romulus workers have been recognized by the Romulus Jaycees for their outstanding public service to the community.

In ceremonies last night at Morgan Manor on Wayne Road, Leonard Melnick and Alton M. Shelly were given the Distinguished Service Award (DSA) for their work in the community.

Melnick is the director of the Romulus Help and Job Placement Center and Shelly is the Romulus area supervisor for the Family and Neighborhood Services.

A 1974 nominee as one of Michigan's Five Outstanding Young Men by the Romulus Jaycees, Melnick has been in the community for three years as director of the Help and Job Placement Center.

His most recent project was writing a proposal with the Jaycees for an Alcoholism Education Program which was funded by the Federal Project Threshold for Romulus schools.

An employee of Family and Neighborhood Services since 1969, Shelly is in charge of an area which serves Van Buren, Sumpter, and Huron Townships.

His job is to provide family and individual counseling. The program has been expanded to provide counseling for exceptional children and their families and to develop a peer counseling program for youngsters at Romulus High School. In the words of Norma Thompson, who nominated him, Melnick deserved the DSA because: "Len's work at the Romulus Help Center and in the community as a whole has had an important impact on the services available to the community."

"He greatly has expanded the scope of services at the Help Center to include job placement, a women's medical clinic and general mental health counseling."

Lee Silvey, the nominator of Shelly, said the area supervisor deserved the award because: "Although he operates under a limited budget from the United Fund, he has put together a staff of qualified people to serve not only the needs of this community but of several of the surrounding ones."

"He has instituted more to help not only the senior citizens but the youth as well. He works with both the senior high school and junior high school counselors, students and teachers helping to guide students with problems."

Melnick, who lives in Ann Arbor with his wife, Helen, and their child, Emily, is the holder of a master of social work degree from Case Western Reserve University. He received his undergraduate degree from Cornell University in 1966.

Shelly, who lives in Wayne with his wife, Elizabeth and their children, Martin, 13, Karl, 14 and Glen, 10, is the holder of a master of social work degree from Ohio State University. He holds an undergraduate degree from Bluffton College.

Train stops traffic

Traffic was stopped in downtown Romulus as the Detroit-bound Freedom Train halted for a 15 minute stop to be greeted by local dignitaries.

Some Romulus officials including the mayor were on hand to view the train Friday after it made a rest stop at the old Romulus railroad station near Shook Road and the Chesapeake and Ohio (C&O)

On the inside

Youngsters in Romulus had an extra special part in making the city's recent cleanup campaign a success. Armed with poster boards and marking pencils, the children chipped in to create posters, urging residents to do their share to beautify the city. See story and photo on Page B-4.

America's heritage to virtually every state in the nation, was hauled by an old steam engine-coal car combination.

The steam engine mode of hauling a train was phased out in U.S. railroads in the late 1950s.

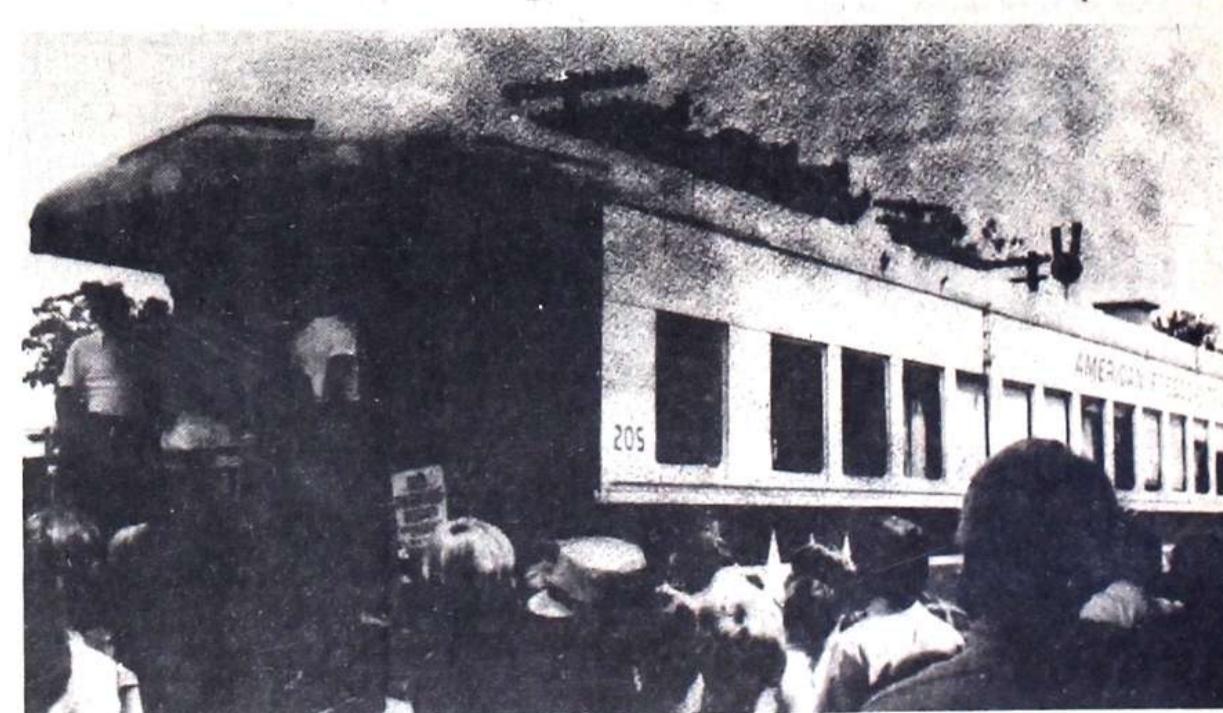

More than 500 persons turned out for the announced stop, coming from 10 miles in every direction to view the train before it reached its final stop at the old Penn Central train station in Detroit.

In addition to crowding into the city's downtown area to view the train, persons parked along the service drive of the I-94 freeway and left their cars to walk to the old Wabash line — now part of the Norfolk and Western Railroad — to get a "feel" of what a steam engine really was like.

The train left the downtown area at 12:30 p.m. and completed its journey into Detroit.

The Freedom Train will be on view at the Penn Central Station until July 6 when it will continue its trip across the nation.

Cars in the train contain historical displays covering 200-years of American heritage.

Crowding to see train

Hundreds of people crowded in downtown Romulus on Friday to see the Detroit-bound Freedom Train during its 15-minute stop in the city. Even though the train was late because of technical difficulties, the people stayed at the site of the old Romulus railroad station near 3-year-olds in high school?

Day care program being conducted

There are some 3-year-old youngsters in Romulus being invited to attend high school. But the youngsters won't be learning regular high school subjects.

The children will be part of a vocational job training program for students at the high school while they participate in a unique day care center operated as a workshop.

According to Jan Fairbanks, one of the directors of the Romulus High School Children's Center, the 3- to 5-year-olds who apply for "class" actually will participate in a full-fledged day care program under the supervision of trained instructors and high school students who are working for a certificate in child care.

"The day care center actually is the second part of a 2-year study assignment for students working in the vocational education program at Romulus High," Mrs. Fairbanks said. "By the time the students finish working in the day care center, they qualify for a certificate as a child care aide, and are able to work in commercial nursery schools and day care centers in Michigan."

Right now, however, the day care students need subjects for the nursery, which will begin its second year of operation in September.

There are openings for 15 children in both a morning and afternoon session at Romulus High. Sessions run from 8:30 to 10:45 a.m. and from 12:15 to 2:30 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Cost of the day care center is $10 per month, with money being used to pay for snacks for children in the center and to pay for materials they may use in special projects.

"It's actually a good deal for everyone involved," Mrs. Fairbanks said. "The children are supervised and the students learn a practical application of the theory they study."

Students in the day care program at Romulus put in one year studying child development, including observation of the operation of the day care center.

In the second year of their 2-year study, the students work with the children in the center, and prepare plans for their studies during the 3-day sessions.

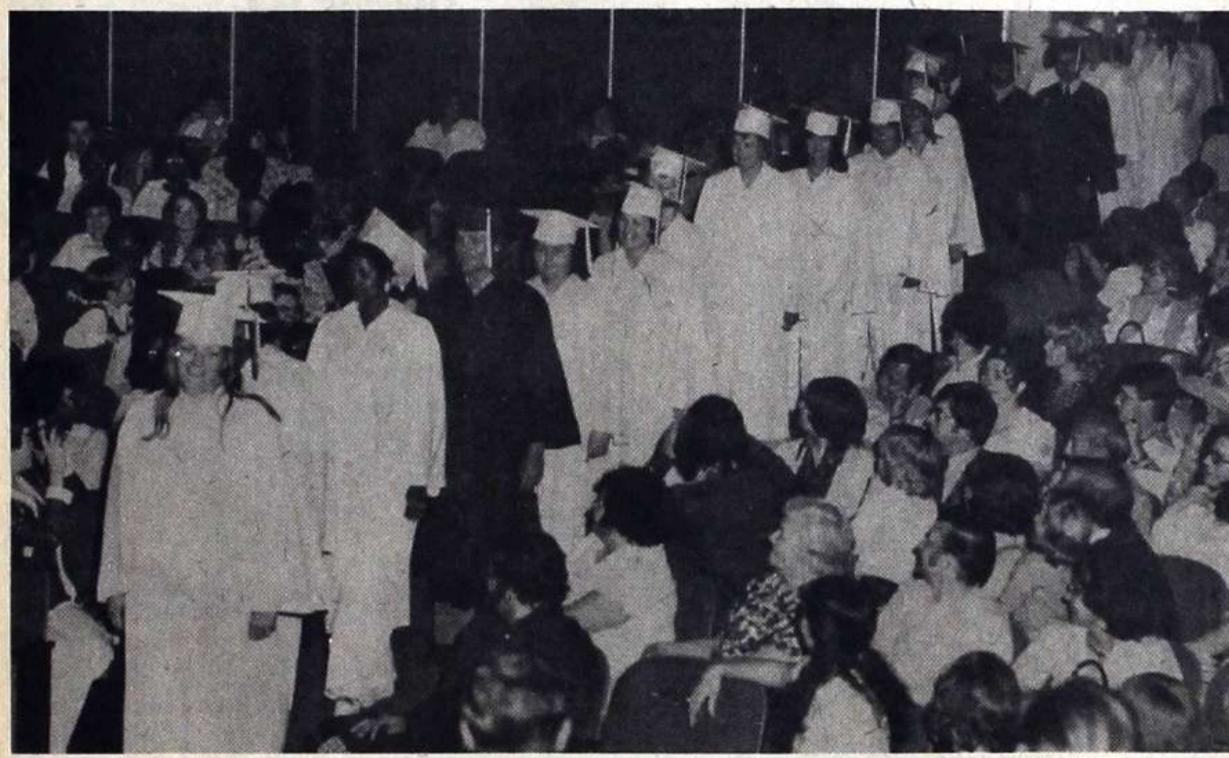

Information on the program can be obtained from Mrs. Fairbanks at Romulus High School. Applications for the day care center also are available at the school.

The deadline for registering preschoolers for the program is mid-July.

FUN DAYS — Children in the Romulus High School Children's Center are entertained during their time in the program. Carolyn Hawk, a graduating senior from Romulus High, donned the clown's suit on "graduation day" for these 3- to 5-year-old youngsters who were supervised three days each week in the high school's center. Student Teacher Audrey Miller helped supervise the fun for the children.

ON GRADUATION DAY — Seventy-five adult students earned their diplomas through Romulus Community Schools this year. In ceremonies at the auditorium in Romulus High School, more than 375 people were on hand to honor the 45 graduates who had decided to march in the cap-and-gown ceremony. Board of Education President Carl Morris presented diplomas to the graduates and congratulated them for their achievement.

Rift blown 'out of proportion' says mother in Little League

The controversy surrounding an 8-year-old Romulus girl's "right" to play Little League baseball without protective athletic equipment "was blown way out of proportion" in the eyes of one Romulus North Little League mother.

Mrs. James Christopher, whose husband is the president of the North Little League in Romulus, said that the issue surrounding Nancy Winnard's right to play baseball wasn't whether she had to wear a boy's protective athletic cup, but whether players in the league — both boys and girls — needed protective equipment.

"I think all the news media missed the point of this when they said the little girl had to wear a boy's athletic protector," Mrs. Christopher said. "The resolution said that all players had to wear protective equipment — and there is protective equipment for girls as well as boys."

"The issue is that I think these children should have all the protection they can when they play. If there were nose protectors, I'd recommend that we consider requiring them."

"I understand there are chest protectors for little girls being made, and I think it may be a good idea for little boys to wear them too, if they can protect them."

Mrs. Christopher said that the North Little League's Board of Directors, and later its general membership, approved the rule because of "three or four injuries" suffered by youngsters in play during last season.

"Thank God no one was hurt seriously, but the injuries demonstrated the need for protection for all players," Mrs. Christopher said. "I think it's important to note that at a meeting June 13, with 75 parents in attendance, all 75 approved the rule when a second vote was taken on it."

"And many parents of girls said they thought it was a good rule."

"In fact, the only parents who have objected were the Winnards."

The controversy surrounding the rule apparently was ended when the Winnards agreed to allow their daughter to play baseball in the Little League while wearing a "girls protective brief."

There are 14 girls in the Little League, according to Mrs. Christopher, and all parents except those of Nancy Winnard agreed with the rule.

The Winnards had at first threatened to sue the Little League for a clarification of a Supreme Court ruling allowing girls to play Little League baseball last year, since they felt the rule requiring the wearing of a protective cup discriminated against girls.

Nancy's mother, Martha, said she and her husband had agreed to fight the rule since they felt it discriminated against their daughter and other girls after the family pediatrician said there was no need for such equipment for girls.

Mrs. Christopher said she was upset with any pediatrician's statements concerning the matter.

"Girls have only been allowed to play this year, so there's no history about what an injury in that area of a girl could do," she said. "I think the league was wise in voting for the ruling before anything serious happened."

Bank builds branch

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP — The Bank of the Commonwealth will announce in two weeks its intention to build a permanent branch office to replace a trailer office at Belleville Road and I-94 which has been a favorite target of robbers during the past eight months. Bank of the Commonwealth officials said the new branch, costing $400,000, will be constructed with security in mind. Two robbers were foiled in an attempt to rob the bank two weeks ago when tear gas bombs exploded in parcels of money they had removed from the bank.

Ford's stature grows

Americans, who tend to be competitive by nature, attach the terms "victory" and "defeat" far too readily to the interactions between Congress and the President.

However, there is no question at all that the failure of Democrats to override President Ford's veto of the strip mining bill was another significant milestone in relationships between the President and the 94th Congress.

It was the third consecutive failure of the Democratic majority to override the wishes of the President on major legislation, and the 11th failure in this Congress.

By any political yardstick the Democrats should have been able to muster enough votes to pass a measure ostensibly intended to improve the environment, if they have a correct reading of the pulse of the nation.

By the same token, the $5.3 billion make-work bill that the President vetoed also had "motherhood" value in political terms. It would have poured billions of dollars into projects that touched construction workers, college students, automobile industry employees, small businesses, cities, counties and regions.

The farm bill that President Ford vetoed several weeks ago would have added agricultural subsidies to the list. However, Congress could not overcome the President's objections in any of these.

Firm in his conviction that inflation should be halted, and that the United States should quell inflation and strike a balance between environment and economic needs, the President has acted decisively.

The Democrats pulled out all of the stops in the effort to override the vetoes. In the case of the make-work bill, Speaker Carl Albert even yielded the gavel to speak against the administration from the House floor. The Democrats themselves put the bills and the vetoes into the framework of "victory" or "defeat" — and they lost.

The setback comes at a time when the President's star is on the rise. On the whole, he has had good luck with all of his 29 vetoes since taking office in August 1974. He gained the support of Americans for taking firm action to protect American seamen on the freighter Mayaguez, and his international standing was measurably and visibly improved as the result of his recent trip to Europe to talk to heads of state.

The impression fostered early in the Ford administration that the President essentially is a compromiser rather than a forceful leader has dissipated.

This is a fortuitous turn of events. The 2-party system in the United States does not thrive on partisan imbalance. By being a strong executive, President Ford is providing an effective counterweight to the numerically superior but ineffectual Democratic majority in Congress.

Perhaps the most encouraging aspect of the emerging executive-legislative relationship is that the Democrats cannot recoup their political strength without coming up with some genuine solutions to the problems that plague the United States.

Should that happen, all American citizens will benefit.

As they see it

Family thanks Kiwanis Club

To the editor: We've heard it said "better late than never" so here we finally are getting around to saying thank you to the Romulus Kiwanis Club for making possible the delicious dinner honoring the "Honor Student Seniors of Romulus '75."

Truly was a night to remember. Starting with the friendliness of fellow Kiwanians and their wives that rubbed off on the parents and students and made for a grand get-together.

Probing CIA

Some have spy fever

A couple of song birds willing to come forward and "sing" about Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) activities could turn the current investigations of the intelligence community into another Watergate.

The prospect clearly worries the White House and the leaders of both parties on Capitol Hill.

The hounds of the Washington press corps are baying on the trail, but they haven't found a fox yet, although they may be getting close.

Like the Chinese water torture, drop by drop the international reputations of the CIA and of four presidents — Eisenhower, Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon — are being tarnished by reports that the CIA plotted the assassination of troublesome foreign leaders and was involved in at least one successful assassination.

These reports have produced a flood of reactions in Washington with one noticeable exception — there have been no flat denials yet.

No other country in the world ever has torn the veil away from its intelligence service the way the United States has done so far with the CIA. To the Russians, with their sinister KGB, what we are doing must seem like madness.

Even our allies — the British, French and West Germans — must be surprised and not a little concerned. Many Americans also find it difficult to understand why we should be stirring up the ashes of things that happened 10 or 20 years ago.

Those who want to keep probing deeper and deeper into the CIA take a different view, however. They argue that one great difference between the CIA and the Soviet's KGB is that the American intelligence agency always has been under strict presidential control and subject to oversight by Congress. Its abuses, if any, have not been allowed to fester into the horrors attributed to the KGB.

The history of Washington investigations is that once started they tend to grow and spread out into different avenues. The CIA probe is following the pattern. It started out to determine if the agency had violated any citizens' rights by spying on Americans at home — a type of action the CIA specifically is forbidden to do except in certain very limited circumstances.

The finding of the minutes has turned out to be a hot potato for President Ford. He is said to be considering how best to handle this data without creating a sensation.

The President is expected to make the material available to Church's committee under strict security rules. The data was not included in the material put together by Vice-president Nelson Rockefeller's blue ribbon investigating commission which now has finished its work.

It seems difficult now to believe that the late president Kennedy knew about any plans by the CIA to "terminate Castro with extreme prejudice" as the euphemism has it. Still the part of the story that has leaked out seems to point in that direction.

Also, it should be remembered that East-West tensions were much greater then than now. Soviet influence on Cuba and Moscow's thwarted efforts to install nuclear rockets on that island were seen as a terrible threat to American cities, those in Florida in particular.

This was the period of the spy cult as amusement in the nations of the West. James Bond novels picturing 007 as having a license to kill for political reasons were on the best seller list. When made into movies they packed theaters. The spying business seemed sort of like fun to westerners. The Russians knew better.

Assassination of foreign leaders for diplomatic reasons is not unknown. But it always has been rare until lately.

By what almost might be considered an unwritten understanding, government leaders in various countries formerly avoided ordering each other shot, because it is so easy for this sort of thing to spread.

Graduation upsets her

To the editor: As a parent and taxpayer, I must express my extreme disappointment with regard to last Thursday's graduation program for the Class of 1975. The unpreparedness on the part of the Romulus High School faculty — even if rain caused the exercise to be moved inside — was inexcusable.

The students as well as the mothers and fathers of the seniors have a right to expect a better performance to represent this community.

The ceremony, beginning to end, was deplorable.

This is not my first experience, and sadly, I know it will not be my last, as no progress ever seems to be made at the Romulus High School. Two more children are to be graduated; two already have been.

BELLEVILLE'S TED KUCKELMAN
...involved in chamber movement

He tries to build chambers

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Enterprise-Roman Staff Writer

It's difficult enough these days for a man to begin a career at age 27.

But when Belleville's Ted Kuckelman was faced with starting a new career at the age of 67, he plugged away and began what has become an asset to Western Wayne County communities in the Chamber of Commerce movement.

It was in 1955, when he was let go by the Union Oil Co. as being "too old" to serve his bosses that Kuckelman embarked on a 20-year career in the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

As he says it: "Someone at Union Oil went down a list of ages, and decided that 67 was too old to work, so I was retired."

"But I couldn't stay out to pasture, so naturally I sought a job."

It was as difficult in 1955 to find a job as it is today, since the post Korean War recession was setting in on the economy. But with a determination which he learned in more than 50 years of selling, Kuckelman decided to sell himself as a valuable asset to some business.

"I had two offers, one from a private company and another from the chamber," Kuckelman recalled. "I chose the chamber in Wayne."

The choice was fortunate for those interested in the chamber movement in Western Wayne County.

Kuckelman took the embryo Wayne Chamber from 37 members to a membership roll which totals in the hundreds today, and then took it upon himself to help form the Westland Chamber of Commerce in old Nankin Township, the Livonia Chamber of Commerce and the South Lyon Chamber of Commerce.

"Those were busy years," he recalled. "When I was finishing up in Wayne, I went to Westland to offer help, and found the chamber in a gasoline station at Wayne and Warren roads.

"It served as both the Post Office and the chamber office at a time before the big Westland Center was built, and before many roads, including Warren Road, were paved in the area."

"We were pretty successful getting things started."

Kuckelman worked with former Westland City Clerk Virgil Gagnon and his wife Harriett to form the original Nankin chamber.

"Those were crazy times," he said. "Sometimes the noise got so bad around the chamber building because of all the other activities, that you couldn't think."

"But we plugged away."

And today Kuckelman looks back with pride on what he calls "two pretty fine chambers of Commerce."

Today, at age 87, Kuckelman is working on his next pet project — the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

When Ted came to Belleville seven years ago to tackle the chamber job, "the organization wasn't worth a damn," as one businessman puts it.

"Ted has made it everything it is today," he added. "And that's a real credit to the community."

Despite his age, and having suffered a stroke and heart attack, Kuckelman still is active in the chamber, leaving his "home" away from home, the Van Buren Convalescent Home in Van Buren Township each day to commute to the chamber offices.

At work each day he busies himself with welcoming new residents to the Belleville area, discussing chamber business with members of the businessmen's organization, soliciting memberships to the chamber and advising budding businessmen on the means to improve their businesses.

But there's a frustration since, after better than 70 years of being "on the road" Kuckelman is tied down by a recuperation period because of his illnesses.

"I'm happy to be here now, and I enjoy the work," the executive secretary said. "But my business is selling, and you can't do that sitting in an office."

"I'm feeling better each day, and I'm hoping the doctor will give me the okay to get a license again, so I can make some rounds, and improve this organization."

The feeling in the community appears to be mutual.

As the local businessman puts it: "Ted's been a real asset to this community, and turned this chamber around."

"And despite his age, he's still sharp and ready to serve."

"With someone like that, it's tough to see him kept in an office."

"We're all looking for another visit from him soon."

Gasieski says good bye to police reserves

Belleville resident Leonard Gasieski won't be a part of the activities of his friends in one way.

Gasieski recently retired from the Belleville Police Reserve Unit after 20 years of service to the community.

He was honored by his fellow reserve members at a retirement dinner at the Flaming Pit in Ann Arbor and along with the dinner accolades, received a retirement badge.

Gasieski was one of the original members of the reserve unit, pulling his first duty during the 1955 Memorial Day parade.

The Police Reserve Unit augments the regular Belleville Police Department by riding as the second man on evening and weekend patrols. Its members also assist in traffic control for holidays, patrol duty on Halloween and other special assignments, including sports events.

Ninety-five percent of the reserve police units' time is donated without compensation.

HELPING OUT — The reading lab at Belleville's South Junior High School will have more equipment next year thanks to a contribution from the Student Council. Presenting Cynthia Coleman (center) with a check for the funds collected at last month's Mardi Gras, are council

Mardi Gras raises funds for reading lab

A day of fun and excitement at South Junior High School in Belleville, resulted in the buying of equipment to be used in the reading lab for next year.

The Student Council presented Cynthia Coleman, reading teacher, and Wayne Salow, English department head, with money that was obtained from the Mardi Gras that council sponsored last month.

With this money, Miss Coleman and Salow purchased 12 sets of headphones, two cassette tape recorders, jackstrips and one mobile equipment table.

South's Student Council is sponsored by Richard Kiessl. The Executive Board consists of Larry Pinston as President, Tina White as vice-president, Karen McDermid and secretary, Jeff Paduan as treasurer, Sam Cornett as public relations director, Deanna Morgan as public relations secretary, Barb

Kasprowicz as ninth grade representative, Michelle Pyshnik as eighth grade representative and Sandy Sienko as seventh grade representative-at-large.

Board delays raises in face of huge deficit

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has postponed decision on a 4.5 percent pay increase proposed for elected county officials, their deputies and other non-union employees.

Acting on a suggestion by Chairman Roscoe L. Bobo during a board meeting last week, the commissioners voted to set aside the pay question until Sept. 18, and in the meantime receive a financial report from the Board of Auditors.

If approved the raise would equal a labor package already negotiated for union employees by Council 23 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees that takes effect July 1.

The increase would affect 557 non-union workers and would "provide equity and uniformity," according to the proposal that was approved last week by the board's Ways and Means Committee.

In opposition to the proposed raise, Bobo said: "We have been told by the Board of Auditors and our fiscal advisor that our deficit now exceeds $8 million, and the time has come for us to take serious notice."

He noted that in January of this year the projected deficit was $4 million, but "just by maintaining our present services and by paying court-imposed costs in lawsuits, and by adjusting salaries in lower classifications that had been held up in Civil Service for some time, our deficit now will reach a crisis."

Bobo predicted that the budget deficit would reach the projected $8 million plus in another six months.

"I strongly believe that all certified employees that are under union contract deserve our doing everything we can to protect them against possible layoff," he added.

"Therefore, committing ourselves to raises of 4.5 percent to elected and appointed officials will destroy completely our chances of effectively and successfully negotiating any help from the union in this cost of living increase and 4.5 percent raise provided in their contract that is due July 1," he said.

The commissioners themselves are excluded from the proposed increase because they are prohibited by state law from voting changes in their own pay.

Also approved at the meeting were four expiring law enforcement grant programs that previously have been financed from mostly federal or state funds, but now will cost the county a greater share.

To attract tourists

Michigan scenery has 'one-two punch'

Naturally scenic and outstanding man-made attractions give Michigan a one-two tourism punch that is the envy of the Midwest.

Nowhere else in the sprawling flatland states will the tourist find a wider variety of things to see.

Even highways leading to 20 outstanding attractions draw sightseers in their own right.

A 2 1/2-mile portion of I-75, from Vanderbil to Indian River, was named the "most scenic highway in the U.S." by a national newspaper supplement several years ago.

Much of the median between the north and southbound lanes plus land surrounding this stretch of I-75 was spared the bulldozer and earthmover during construction. The result is an almost untouched wilderness of gently rolling hills with deer, porcupines and bear living undisturbed among pine and poplar trees and gravel-bottom trout streams.

Several hours' drive north and across the Mackinac Bridge is another scenic roadway called Brockway Mountain Drive. Located in rocky, copper-laden Keweenaw Peninsula, it starts at M-26 and winds to its end nine miles later just outside Copper Harbor.

To the east, south and west along the road, motorists can overlook an ancient mountain range once higher than the Rocky Mountains, but now reduced by time and erosion to hills and valleys with lakes in between.

East of the Keweenaw are the famed Upper and Lower Tahquamenon Falls. The upper falls, except for the Niagara is the highest east of the Mississippi. It rushes the tea-colored Tahquamenon River to the lower falls, a series of rapids, on its way to Lake Superior.

Visitors now can drive to a state park for a short walk through the woods to the falls or choose the Toonerville Trolley and Tahquamenon River trip, a 6 1/2-hour jaunt via train and river boat to the falls.

In Lower Michigan, take a drive around Old Mission Peninsula, a 17-mile finger of land jutting into Grand Traverse Bay. Be sure to go in blossoms time or for July harvests for best views, as there are more cherry trees per square mile here than any place in the nation.

Near its tip is Old Mission Lighthouse, built on the 45th parallel, halfway between the equator and north pole. There is a picnic area along the shore next to the building.

Holland, 165 miles south, is a true Dutch treat, with windmills, canals and acres of tulips waiting for delighted visitors.

In addition to a working drawbridge and miniature Dutch village, "De Zwann," a 200-year-old windmill brought from the Netherlands, still grinds flour daily.

Flowers, trees and other glimpses of nature in urban settings can be seen at Midland's Dow Gardens, containing 30 acres of floral masterpieces.

Matthaei Botanical Gardens near the University of Michigan's Ann Arbor campus blends natural surroundings with flowers and plants from throughout the world along several nature trails.

They may not be in wilderness settings, but don't pass up Detroit-area attractions either. Detroit's 1,000-acre Belle Isle offers canoeing, quiet lagoons, cooking hamburgers on grills, horseback riding, swimming or taking in open air concerts. There also is a small children's zoo.

In nearby Dearborn, internationally famous Greenfield Village contains more than 100 original buildings associated with famous Americans.

historic events and inventions over three centuries.

Northwest of Detroit is the 3 1/2-mile cantilevered Blue Water Bridge spanning the St. Clair River at Port Huron to Sarnia, Ont., Canada. Views of the river and Lake Huron from the bridge are spectacular.

Other Michigan highlights include Cranbrook's science and art centers in Bloomfield Hills, Honolulu House, built in 1860 by a former U.S. consul to Hawaii and now a museum.

The bronze 3-figure statue at the Lumberman's Monument near Oscoda and the relentlessly shifting sands of the Sleeping Bear Dune National Lakeshore near Glen Haven provide vacationers a taste of Michigan's history, its past residents and its resources.

Detroit Diesel promotes two

Two appointments in Detroit Diesel Allison's purchasing staff have been made, according to Inn W. Ledford, director of purchasing.

William T. Fogarty, manager of purchasing in Detroit, has been named supply manager of the division's Bedford engine manufacturing facility in Wellingborough, England.

William M. Silvan, purchasing agent in Detroit, has been promoted to succeed him.

Sullivan, who holds a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Central Michigan University, joined Detroit Diesel in 1951 as a member of the purchasing staff.

Among the positions he held in that activity were supervisor of followup purchasing, divisional buyer and assistant purchasing agent. He became purchasing agent in 1967.

Detroit Diesel Allison maintains a facility in Romulus.

Be prepared

Do you know what to do if a tornado hits?

After just completing a period of severe spring weather, laced with threats of tornadoes and damaging storms, some Western Wayne County residents are concerned about what to do in the advent of such destructive weather.

Last year tornadoes killed some 330 persons and left a $500 million swath of insured losses along the midsection of the United States.

This year twisters already have claimed three lives in the Midwest and slapped Omaha, Neb., with $67 million in insured losses with the storm season far from over.

In the period from 1969 to 1973 a total of 1,366 tornadoes were reported in a 12-state area.

Judging by that statistic residents can see why Webster's Dictionary describes a tornado as "a violent whirling wind, especially in the central United States...."

In order to minimize the risk of lives and property damage, Midwesterners are urged to prepare now and keep informed on what to do before, during and after a storm.

When storm conditions develop, keep alert to radio and television weather advisories and plan your work and play schedules accordingly.

If a storm is sighted in your area, move to a place of safety immediately, the basement if you have one is the safest place. If you do not have a basement, move to the center of your home or apartment where outside walls offer maximum protection, making certain to stay low, preferably under a piece of heavy furniture and away from windows.

Be careful. Avoid loose electrical lines and stay away from badly damaged buildings that could topple over. Keep tuned to your radio for any instructions from community officials.

Inspect your property as quickly as practical and report the damage to your insurance agent. Also make any temporary repairs that will prevent further damage to your property and keep the receipts, since these costs are normally covered by your home insurance policy.

During major storms the insurance industry mobilizes adjusters from throughout the country, sending them to the stricken area to expedite the handling of claims. Larger, more serious losses are given priority.

To help the adjuster handle your claim, prepare a list of all possessions lost in the storm. It also is wise to keep an inventory of all possessions in a secure place, such as a bank safe deposit box, for such purposes.

If there is extensive damage, your home may be uninhabitable, and your policy will cover any additional living expenses. Some policies also cover debris removal.

Helicopter will continue trip County re-funds patrol unit

The Wayne County Sheriff's helicopter will continue to criss-cross the skies of Western Wayne County after receiving continued funding to operating the county's two helicopters until the end of the current fiscal year.

The Board of Commissioners previously had voted not to fund the squadron after June 30 in an economy move. The county is facing a budget deficit estimated from $6.7 million to $12 million.

Last Thursday, the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee voted to reconsider the matter and approved the helicopter funding. The full board of commissioners met yesterday and approved the committee's recommendation.

The helicopter squadron which is operated by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department in Wayne, Westland, Inkster and Garden City, is headquartered at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus.

The Public Safety and Judiciary Committee in approving the additional funding instructed Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas to seek funds from communities served by the helicopters to keep them beyond Dec. 1.

Citizens urged to take part in summer adult education

Residents of the Sumpter, Van Buren, Belleville area are being urged to participate in a unique summer adult education program being sponsored by the Huron School District.

Noah Folks, an instructor in the Huron adult vocational education program, and a trustee on the Sumpter Township board, said that the program is providing residents not only with a recreational outlet but also an opportunity to broaden their knowledge and skills.

"The program is designed to cover a number of subjects, including regular school curriculum, crafts and vocational instruction," Folks said. "It will allow adults to learn more skills for obtaining better employment and allow some high school students to broaden their knowledge, if they're interested."

Offered as part of the vocational instruction is upholstery, woodworking, carpentry, electrical wiring and plumbing.

Crafts covered in the course include sewing, arts and crafts, ceramics and needle point.

Physical fitness also will be taught during some sessions.

Formal subjects being offered include English, history, mathematics and current events.

"I'd recommend this program to many adults because it not only gives a formal curriculum in class school studies, vocational studies and the arts, but also an opportunity to learn more about the teachers who work in the area," Folks said. "The parents and youngsters who take certain courses also can earn credits toward their high school diplomas."

"I think it will be beneficial to all."

GI Bill extends funding

The Veterans Administration (VA) issued a reminder that nine additional months are available to some veterans and military service personnel who ran out of GI Bill eligibility before receiving their undergraduate college degrees.

VA officials estimate 13,000 trainees will take advantage of the new benefit at a cost of $26.3 million during the first year. There was a record GI Bill enrollments of 2.4 million in fiscal year 1974 included 1.3 million college trainees.

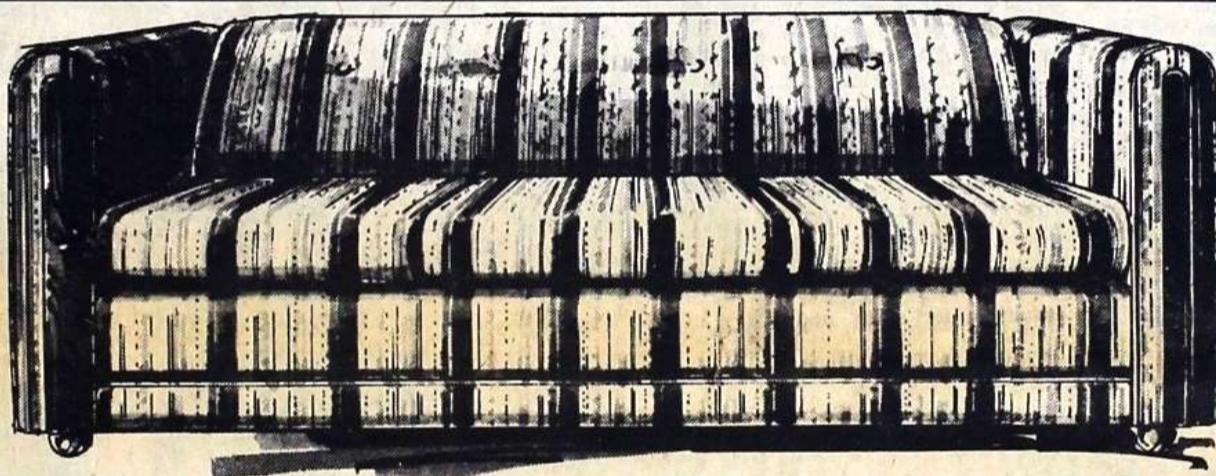

VA said the 9-month extension was approved Dec. 3 under PL 93-508 for veterans and inservice personnel who meet certain prerequisites.

For example, the extension is available only to those originally eligible for 36 months entitlement, and they must have exhausted it while enrolled in a bachelor or first professional degree program.

Officials added that applicants who have associate degrees are eligible for the extension, but not those who have, or who are eligible to receive their bachelor or first professional degree. Nor can an applicant with an associate degree use the extra time to earn a second associate degree.

Interested eligible persons are urged to contact the nearest VA office, or a nearby veterans service organization.

Road maintenance cost increase

The state's County road system maintenance and construction costs, including Western Wayne County, have risen an average of 18.7 percent during the past year while revenues have declined, a new study shows.

The survey of 18 major expense items was conducted among the state's 83 county road commissions by the County Road Association of Michigan. "Data comparing county road costs on April 1 with similar items for the same time in 1974 show the critical pinch facing county road commissioners as they struggle to maintain local highway systems," said Earl F. Rogers, engineer-director of the Association.

Rogers noted that gasoline and weight tax collections, used to finance state, county and municipal roads as well as mass transit, showed a total increase of $128,429 in the first quarter of 1975 as compared with the same period a year ago.

"As a result of declining tax revenues and continuing inflation in operating costs, most counties have had to reduce construction and maintenance programs while some have been obliged to lay off employees," Rogers said.

"We are very concerned about maintaining county roads, let alone making needed improvements, if the gap between revenues and expenses continues to widen."

The survey showed the highest cost increase was for steel grader blades which now are priced an average of 60 percent more than a year ago.

Other items showing an average cost increase included corrugated pipe, 29 percent; guard rail, 26 percent; guard posts, 21 percent; stop signs, 18 percent; asphalt pavement, 17 percent; asphalt cold patch, 17 percent; concrete pavement, 16 percent; asphalt emulsion, 16 percent; asphalt cutback, 16 percent; concrete structures, 13 percent; processed gravel, 10 percent, and motor fuels from 2 to 3 percent.

Contracted excavation costs have risen an average of 35 percent while paint striping charges have gone up 18 percent, counties reported.

Heavy truck driver wages are up an average of 11 percent over a year ago while fringe benefits in the same category are 14 percent higher.

The decline in revenues has resulted from a decrease in gasoline use as pump prices have edged upward in the past year. Gasoline taxes are a major source of income for Michigan Highway Agencies.

Romulus panel plans year-long observance

The Romulus Bicentennial Committee has planned a yearlong series of events to celebrate the 200 years of independence of America.

An essay contest was planned by Kim Cardwell to encompass the views of the Romulus school children on "What the Bicentennial Means to Me" and essays were submitted by the elementary schools as well as the high school.

The winners of the essay contest, Michelle Noel of 36910 Mentor, a senior high student and Roxanne Bagley of 35257 Wick Road, an elementary school student, was presented a $25 United States savings bond at the Romulus City Council Meeting last night.

In addition to the essay contest, various social events are being planned by Donna Lee Zavitz, Marge McCrory and Beverly McAnally, to take place in the City Hall parking lot with a pet contest, sponsored by the Romulus Horsemen's Association from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. Several other functions have been planned for the remainder of the Bicentennial year and will be announced.

Diane Hazen, as well as other committee members, are researching the possibility of securing one of the City's historic homes for the purpose of establishing a Historic Museum for the community.

And Jack Trumble, the chairman of the Bicentennial Committee, has assigned Phil McNett and Ron Makino to organize a Bicentennial parade for July 4.

The staging area for the parade will be held at the City Hall parking lot for 9:30 a.m. Anyone interested in participating in the parade with a float or other vehicles of interest, should gather at the City Hall parking lot.

The parade is planned for a circuitous route through Romulus past a reviewing stand to be located by the old Township Hall building, where judges will review the participating bands and floats and award trophies for the best in either category.

The parade will end at the Progressive Hall parking lot, where refreshments will be available.

All city merchants are being asked to participate by displaying flags, bunting and other decorations for the day of the parade, according to Marge McCrory.

Students express anniversary views

The celebration of the nation's 200th year of independence means something different to each American and to Roxann Bagley, a fifth grade student at Cory Elementary School, the Bicentennial means this:

The Bicentennial of the United States of America is to celebrate 200 years of freedom.

This freedom gives the right to worship any of the many religions that the United States has to offer. It also gives the people the freedom of speech which means they can give their own opinion as long as it doesn't hurt anyone.

Freedom of the Press is celebrated because it gives the public the right to publish newspapers, books, magazines and so forth. These many things to read tell what is or will happen to the country and the whole world.

And to Michelle Noel, a senior at Romulus Senior High School, our nation's 200th birthday stands for this:

Many people don't realize the many rights we have which make our freedom. For instance:

(1) The freedom of living anywhere you want;

(2) Working at what job you wish;

(3) Going where you want; and

(4) The freedom to buy as you wish.

The Bicentennial is important to me because I often wonder what life would be like without freedom. I think it would be no fun, and I'm glad I'm free.

And to Michelle Noel, a senior at Romulus Senior High School, our nation's 200th birthday stands for this:

Our country has many faults — people unemployed, food prices continue to sky-rocket with no end in sight and the job opportunities are not the most abundant for anyone, especially high school and college graduates of 1975.

Despite these apparent flaws the people of this country have many things to be proud of. July 4, 1976 will mark the 200th birthday of this country and the anniversary of the many things we have to be proud of.

To me, the 200th birthday of our country is something to be extremely proud of. It means that the liberties that our forefathers instituted more than 1½ centuries ago continue to exist today.

A century and a half. In that period of time, Russia has gone through several revolutions, China's government has changed several times and we have been involved in two world wars.

We have had our share of internal wars. To me these wars seem to symbolize one main idea — freedom.

That's what the American Bicentennial is all about — freedom. The freedom exists in this country to say what you want without fear of disappearing the next day, printing anything you want in public that is true, etc.

I'm not an extremely patriotic person, but I dislike anyone putting this

May end third parties

Party chairman denounces election reform

Belleville resident Peter E. McAlpine, chairman of the tri-county organization of the Libertarian Party, has denounced House Bill No. 5250, the state campaign reform bill, as a proposal that could regulate third parties out of existence.

"If a similar law has been in effect nationally in 1860, Abraham Lincoln never would have become president of the United States," McAlpine said. Lincoln, as the candidate of a fledgling minor party, now the Republican Party, successfully challenged the major parties.

"Several aspects of the bill disturb me," McAlpine continued. "For example, the political ethics commission that is to administer the provisions of the bill, is to be composed of six members, appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate.

"To be considered, a person must be recommended by one of the minority or majority leaders of the State House or Senate or the governor. What this amounts to is putting the fox in charge of the chicken coup."

Referring to the Watergate revelations, McAlpine is fearful that the bill might be misused to selectively harass minor parties.

"An even more fundamental question is the constitutionality of this proposal," McAlpine charged. The bill requires that the names and address of all those persons contributing more than $15 to any candidate or ballot committee be reported and open to public scrutiny. If more than $50 is donated, that person's employer also must be listed.

"We regard this as a violation of the concept of secret ballots," McAlpine said. "Why incur the expense of purchasing curtains for voting booths when it's public knowledge whom you support financially."

"Invasion of privacy remains the basic principle of Michigan election laws. Also, in violation of the Constitution, the citizen's right of freedom of speech would be limited to $1700 for governor, $450 for state senator, and $250 for state Representative."

McAlpine decried the effect of the bill on the already beleaguered taxpayers.

"I wonder how many people realize that the treasury could be required to pay out $1,500,000 if the two major party gubernatorial candidates received all they were entitled to for the general election," he said. This figure excludes the amounts to which minor party and primary candidates are entitled. Imagine what the amount could expand to if public funding were to be extended to all state officials in the future."

The tri-county organization meets monthly at a family restaurant on 11 Mile near Greenfield. For further information call 522-3480.

2 net position on list

Two Belleville-area residents have made the dean's list during the spring semester at Albion College.

They are Bonita S. Myers and Clare M. Steinman. Miss Myers, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Myers of Lake Villa Drive, Belleville, is a senior at the college.

Miss Steinman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Steinman of Haggerty Road, Van Buren Township, is sophomore. To be named to the dean's list, the two women had to maintain at least a 3.3 grade point average during their spring studies. A 4.0 average would have been perfect.

More than 500 students of the 1,745 fulltime students at the college made the dean's list.

Resident attends course

Romulus resident Ernest Kwek Jr., of 37149 Grant, an employee of Beck & Howell, 20085 Eureka, Taylor, is taking a 2-week course in resilient flooring installation at the Armstrong Cork Co.'s Installation School in Lancaster, Pa.

As a part of the course, all students are conducted on a tour through the Lancaster Floor Plant to study the manufacture of sheet vinyl flooring and resilient tiles.

Applications for personalized plates are available at all Secretary of State field offices.

Personalized car plates available

Western Wayne County car owners who had personalized plates last year have to move quickly to retain for 1976 the personal message they had on their 1975 plates. The deadline is Monday.

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin said: "Although new requests are moving at a record pace, renewals of personalized plates are moving slowly." Approximately 4,900 plates have been sold to date. Total sales are expected to exceed 10,000.

Here's our All-Area team

By TOM OORADIAN
Sports Editor

Area high school baseball coaches have made the selections of the All-Area teams relatively easy for the past two years.

For, in that span, the area has produced consecutive Class A state champs.

Last year it was Coach Rog Frayer and the Chargers who won the coveted state crown.

This year Wayne Sparkman and Plymouth Salem inherited the title from their neighbors in Livonia. And, from Sparkman's charges, the All-Area roster contains six of 16 players who are being honored today on the mythical team.

The All-Star team is led by Salem hurler Tom Willette, recently drafted by the San Diego Padres of the National League. Other pitchers named to The Eagle — Associated Newspapers' All-Area team are Pat Bledsoe (Wayne Memorial), Bill Parson (Plymouth Canton) and Rick Britz (Romulus).

The outfielders include Doug Tripp (Plymouth Salem), Mike Verduce (Plymouth Canton) and Mike Kelly (Romulus).

Named as infielders to the coveted team are Dave Pierce (Plymouth Salem), Pat Sheridan (Wayne Memorial), Brian Wolcott (Plymouth Salem), Brian Stemberger (Plymouth Canton), Bob Griffin (Romulus), Charlie Johnson (Plymouth Salem) and John Irwin (Westland John Glenn).

The All-Area first baseman is Howard Inch (Plymouth Salem) while the catcher named to handle the backstop chores is Tom Close (Plymouth Canton).

Willette has had a phenomenal year. The lanky 6-foot-1-inch, 175-lb. senior chalked up 14 victories in 15 outings — a Salem record — and had a 1.12 ERA (earned run average).

A left-hander noted for his fastball, he also has an excellent curve and, in 93 two-thirds innings of work, he struck out 179 and walked 44, allowing only 44 hits.

"He is an exceptional player," Sparkman said. "And, we would not have gotten as far as we did if it wasn't for his arm."

Effective at the plate as well, Willette carved out a .288 batting average and had 16 RBI's which tied him for the slug lead. He made 64 appearances at the plate, scored 11 runs and had 18 hits.

Bledsoe was the key link in Wayne's successful bid for the Great Lakes 8 Conference championship. A "super sophomore" who has lettered in football and basketball, Pat amassed a 5-1 won-lost record and a 1.77 ERA.

A rugged 6-foot 2-inch righthander, Bledsoe was one of two Wayne players who were unanimous coaches' choices for the all-conference team.

Britz made Romulus one of the threats in the area. The senior right-hander compiled a 10-3 won-lost record and had a 1.40 ERA. He also notched 90 strikeouts in 87 innings on the mound.

Rick has several scholarship offers but probably will play for the University of Detroit or Olivet College," Romulus Coach Dennis Stoh said. "Any time we had a tough opponent, Rick was given the assignment and, as evidenced by his record, he didn't fail us many times."

Pat will be back with Fred Crissey's Western Six Conference championship squad next year. The 17-year-old junior helped the Chargers earn the No. 1 state rating for most of the 1975 campaign.

A right-hander, Bill posted a fantastic 0.37 ERA as he won 12 of 14 this season. He worked 75 innings, struck out 92 and walked a mere 18.

Close, described as an "outstanding defensive catcher," belted two grand slam home runs and had eight homers for the season. He finished with an .348 batting average and batted in 18 runs. Named as the Les Anders Tournament's Most Value Player, Tom is a 6-foot 1-inch 175-lb. junior who should help Canton become a serious state title contender again next year.

Inch contributed a .338 batting average in Salem's unforgettable year. The 6-foot, 175-lb. junior provides the state champs with the clutch hitting to go all the way. He appeared at the plate 68 times, collected 38 hits and scored 12 runs and 16 RBI's.

Sheridan is another 3-sports athlete who could erase a handful of Wayne Memorial records before he ends his prep career. He batted .385 for Coach Jim Chronowski's Zebras and held down the second baseman's job as a junior.

"Pat is an excellent athlete who has a lot of potential," Chronowski said. "He has the mental and physical skills to go a long way."

Stemberger's .402 batting average is the best in the All-Area lineup. He scored 21 runs and collected 23 RBI's and "was the difference in our ball club," Crissey said.

A senior who bats and throws right-handed, Brian also is a 3-sports man. The 6-foot 3-inch, 185-lb. senior was an All-Western Six Conference selection and was named as the MVP in the conference.

His credentials also earned him a flock of other honors.

Romulus' Griffin ends his prep career with 16 RBI's, a home run and a .302 batting average. A transfer student from Lutheran West, Bob also was used effectively on the mound.

In his initial season in varsity competition, Pierce batted .365. And the 5-foot 10-inch, 160-lb. junior second baseman will be back next year to help the Rocks defend its Class A title.

Dave was at bat 96 times in 1975, collected 35 hits and scored 25 times. He also accounted for 13 RBI's and 12 stolen bases.

"Dave was our leading hitter, scored the most runs and had the most hits," Sparkman said. "He is an excellent base runner, fielder and owns an excellent double-play pivot."

Second in the Salem lineup, Wolcott punched the ball at a .345 clip this season. He made 87 trips to the plate and drilled 30 hits. Brian also counted 20 runs scored and 13 RBI's.

Brian completed his second year as a member of the Rocks' varsity club. Johnson made his debut this season on the varsity team and a 5-foot, 10 1/2-inch, 180-lb. junior contributed an impressive .333 batting average to the Rocks' cause.

Johnson was at bat 66 times and he managed to get 22 hits, score 12 times and drive in 12 runs.

Irwin also displayed a lot of power for Westland John Glenn. The 17-year-old senior wrapped up his prep career batting .307.

John, a 2-year varsity performer, slammed seven doubles and six triples in hitting in 13 RBI's.

"Many scouts have looked him over," Glenn Coach Norm Hoenes said.

Tripp is a "complete player" who slugged the ball at a .333 clip, batting in 13 runs, scoring 21 times in his 69 appearances at the plate.

Once on base, this fleet-footed athlete plagued pitchers and catchers with his speed. He is credited with stealing 16 bases.

Tripp batted third in the Salem lineup and he also is described as having an exceptional arm. "Because of his speed and arm, he stopped many runners from getting extra bases on us," Sparkman added.

Kelly was named Romulus' Most Valuable Player. The .333 hitting outfielder provided the clutch hitting that made the difference in at least four victories, according to Stoh.

"Mike took command in the middle of the season and he had the most game winning hits on this year's ball club," Stoh said. "He's going to make an excellent college ball player."

Verduce (who was not available to be photographed) batted in the cleanup spot for Canton and he drove in 22 runs and finished the season with a .330 batting average.

If you wish your automobile to give peak performance, then you must pay attention to your carburetor. The whole ignition system in your car must be precisely tuned so that the right fuel-air mixture can be supplied to the cylinders and ignited at the correct moment. Remember that parts wear out, and that even the best-adjusted automobile engine will be thrown out from time to time by the stress of driving. This is one of the reasons that your car should receive periodic tune-ups.

Improve your car's performance and get better gas mileage with an engine tune-up. You can get all the foreign or domestic auto parts you need from KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster, the "House of a Million Parts." We also have all kinds of accessories and tools to get the job done right. Our machine shop offers complete repair service including rebuilding engines, turning brake drums and valve work. For everything you need to keep your foreign or American car running and looking its best, visit KOSIN'S any weekday from 8 A.M. until 8 P.M., or on Saturdays until 5 P.M. For more information, call us at 563-3894.

In Romulus softball play

Gray sisters give Kid Power scoring power

The Gray sisters — Tareia, Priscilla and Joyce — are giving the Kid Power scoring power that could pave the way to the Romulus Women's Softball Championship this season.

Tareia and Priscilla each had two home runs while Joyce drilled five hits as Kid Power exploded to a 30-8 victory over the Shakers.

Brenda Harris also chipped in five hits for the winners who are undefeated on the season.

Joan Asher came through with three hits, while Cindy Drobil and Lidia Muno each had doubles for the losers.

Meanwhile, the Buzz Troop shot down the Airline Bombers 16-5 as Cindy Summers hammered a home run for the Troopers who also received outstanding hitting performances from Janey Hargrove, Diane Williams and Connie Durham.

The Bombers made a game of it the first couple of innings thanks to the effort of Janet Slater, Sherry Hensley, Marilyn Leepen and Janie Slater.

The Kel-Joys turned back the Seeker 12-6. Shiela Oakley's home run highlighted the winner's attack. Teammates Sandy Selle and Sue Luczak split eight hits between them.

Alice Stratton, Terry Druyor and Melody Trailor had three hits apiece for the Seekers.

The Spirit of '76 got into a winning mood as it edged Our Gang 6-5 thanks to the slugging of Joey Hopson, Sliva Dubinsky and Peggy Summerfield.

Our Gang's reply came in the form of nine hits off the bats of Audrey Johnson, Alison Ziembowicz, Patty Reid and Buttons Williams.

The Odd Squad had little trouble with the Bullshirts who lost a 33-6 confrontation.

The Bullshirts were led by Carol Skura and Carol Johnson who split four hits. Donna Ruppel's also drilled a 2-run single.

Electric Warriors won a 16-14 slugfest from the Whiz Kids as Tina Swazey hammered a grand slam home run. Mates Margaret Ayers also homered and Debbie Owens blasted a pair of roundtrippers for the Warriors.

Over in the West Division, the Kerrettes came out swinging and atop of a 17-5 score against the SWAT. Mary Downey, Maria Franklin, Betty Burns and Donna Tompson led the winners.

The Chocolate City survived a stubborn Tarantulas, 9-8.

Thresa Gibson, Pam Morrison, Joy Kersey and Brenda Allen got the job done for the winners, while the Tarantulas received three hits apiece from Robyn Kucher and Mary Dziedzic.

The new Streakers streaked past 2001, 13-4. Cindy Seward's grand slam homer did the trick, while Dawn Sliva also homered and Mary Karbowski tripled.

The 69ers got past the Hustlers 12-5 as Carol Casmer came through with a key triple, scoring two big runs. Bonnie Hood and Debbie DePoble each had four hits.

The Foul Balls outlasted the Bleepers in a 11-10 thriller. The winners counted three hits from Darlene May, Jan Funnell, and Cindy Latarte, while the Bleepers were led by Lucy Kais, Pam Girard and Mary Folk.

The Denim Dolls didn't need to sweat in its win over the Euphoria who failed to field a team at game time and lost on a forfeit.

Oh, yes, in the battle between the Tarantulas and The Rookies, it was the Tarantulas who emerged on top of a 6-2 score and not visa versa as reported in last week's edition.

Mercury level drops in fish

By BOB BERG
Panax Lansing
Bureau Chief

Natural Resources Fisheries Division.

Recent checks of yellow perch caught in the lake and in the St. Clair and Detroit Rivers which it feeds have shown them all to be below the Food and Drug Administration recommended level of .5 part per million, he added. Walleyed pike, which in 1970 were showing six parts per million of mercury — roughly 12 times the recommended maximum amount, now are showing an average of one part per million.

The situation has changed remarkably since 1970, when a temporary ban on fishing in the lake and rivers was imposed and then followed with a warning not to eat much, if any, fish from the waters for fear of mercury contamination which could cause brain damage.

Bails said there appear to be two reasons for the unexpectedly quick drop.

The first is the great flow of water through the area from Lake Huron which has served as a cleaning agent.

The second is that apparently mercury on the bottom of the water was not causing the problems — that it apparently was mostly caused by continuous dumping of wastes containing methyl mercury at Sarnia by Dow Chemical and at Wyandotte by

"As a result, the people who said 'I've been eating fish out of that water for 20 years and haven't been hurt' probably were right. The mercury hadn't been there that long and we were fortunate to catch it when we did."

The Public Health Department still is cautious about changing its recommendations on eating the fish, though there are no actual rules governing how much sport fish can be eaten.

"The gist of the warning is the same as for smoking cigarettes," Dr. Harold Humphrey said. "We are saying be informed fish contain this chemical and we recommend you be cautious and not eat more than one meal per week."

The main danger lies in the larger, older walleyes who have been in the waters since 1970 or earlier and picked up a good deal of mercury, he added.

"They have a longer life span than, say, perch and it's the big ones, the ones you don't want to get away, who contain the most mercury," he said. "But for the weekend angler, there is no problem."

Continuous testing is going on concerning both mercury levels and how mercury actually entered the food chain in the first place.

Pitcher gains attention in Little League game

While undefeated United Brass continued to hold the spotlight in the Romulus South Little League, a lot of attention went to pitcher Scott Wilcox last week.

Wilcox twirled a 2-hitter as the Romulus Athletic Club (RAC) overwhelmed Five Points Restaurant 26-

1. The RAC hurler also starred at the plate where he hit a pair of home runs, one a grand slam.

Teammate Matt Kelly also drilled a 4-bagger.

Meanwhile, Penguin Dairy Treat jolted Romulus Rotary 15-3 as Mark Boling came through with three home runs and Kyl Kruger socked one.

United Brass remains the team to beat in the league as the league-leaders have strung together nine consecutive victories and are on the verge of wrapping up the title.

Brothers capture gold medals

Two Belleville brothers captured gold medals at the 1975 Eastern National AAU age group wrestling championships staged at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti.

The brothers, Rick and Carl Winekoff, placed first in the 133-pound and 105-pound weight classes, respectively.

Rick beat Dan Wrihenny of Ohio on a fall in 1:25 to win his gold and qualify for the national championships to be staged in Nevada from July 22 to July 25.

If Rick should win the national title in his age group, 11-12, he could become a member of the U.S. Junior Olympics team.

Carl was the top performer in the 13-14 age group. He won the Greco-Roman title by out-wrestling Mike Henderson of Michigan 4-0.

The two brothers are members of the Wayne-Westland Spartans Wrestling Club and are coached by Rick Sauer.

More ball teams sought by league

Eight more teams are needed to complete the field for the inaugural Metro-West Softball Tournament.

The tournament, sponsored by Jack's Sporting Goods, has a field of 12 teams and is seeking eight more, according to Joe Kadlec, meet director.

Deadline to register is Saturday. Games will start on July 5 and will be played at Anderson Field, on Howe Road behind the Wayne

Community Center. "We're looking for Class A caliber or lower teams," Kadlec said. "We have some excellent teams committed to play and we are looking for a few more to round the field."

The champ and runner-up will be awarded trophies.

Further information may be obtained by calling Kadlec at 729-1911, Elmer Daniels at 722-4076 or Jack's Sporting Goods at 729-1277.

TRUMBLE ENTERS.

75-477

4. Motion by Lee, supported by Coleman, that Council concur with the recommendation of the Mayor and adopt Resolution 75-477 (Support of Suburban Water Committee Proposal):

RESOLUTION NO. 75-477

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus has been victimized by the inequitable practices of the Detroit Metropolitan Water Department and the Detroit Board of Water Commissioners in three (3) critical areas identified by the Western Wayne County Water Rate Study Committee, specifically set forth as follows:

1) Representation of suburban interests on the Detroit Water Board is not guaranteed. Under the City of Detroit Charter, non-Detroit members of the seven (7) person board may number no more than three, and may be excluded entirely. Considering that suburban dollars now account for approximately sixty-five (65 percent) percent of the total Detroit Metropolitan Water Department budget, this formula of Board makeup no longer provides equal representation for all water and sewer customers.

2) The Detroit Metropolitan Water Department is not currently required to be audited annually by an outside agency. Without such a periodic independent audit, it is impossible to judge with certainty the necessity of any proposed rate change. Likewise, it is impossible to determine the exact breakdown between Detroit and suburban dollars in both the water and sewer budgets, and where those dollars are being spent.

3) The Board of Water Commissioners is not currently required to hold public hearings prior to a proposed rate change. Similarly, once a rate change has been made, the decision is not subject to appeal. This is inconsistent when compared with regulations imposed on other utilities.

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus has no objections toward the shouldering of its responsibilities as a result of imposition of the Detroit Metropolitan Water Department and/or the Detroit Board of Water Commissioners so long as impositions are administered equitably; and

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus has determined that the aforementioned inequities infringe upon the rights of the citizens of Romulus, rights the Administrative and Legislative Officers of Romulus are sworn to uphold; and

WHEREAS: It is the advised resolution of the Administrative and Legislative Officers of the City of Romulus that these inequities may be eliminated, and the citizens of the City of Romulus guaranteed equity in its relationship with the Detroit Metropolitan Water Department and the Detroit Board of Water Commissioners by the imposition upon said bodies of the following:

1) The Michigan State Legislature enact legislation requiring an immediate audit of the Detroit Metropolitan Water Department by an outside auditor. This audit shall cover both the water and sewer budgets. Further, that additional legislation be enacted requiring cities of over one million population and owning their own water system to be audited annually by an outside auditor. Provision shall be made in both pieces of legislation that when these audits are performed, the DMWD be required to follow the accounting procedures recognized by the State of Michigan.

2) The Legislature enact legislation revising both the makeup requirements and appointment procedures of the Water Board so that it may become more truly representative of all water customers. This could be accomplished by enlarging the current Board to include equal numbers of Detroit and non-Detroit members. Regardless of the formula used, suburban communities must have a greater voice in who shall be their representatives on the Water Board than at present.

3) The Legislature enact legislation which will specify formal steps the Board of Water Commissioners must take prior to any water or sewer rate change. These steps shall include, but are not limited to, a public hearing or hearings. Concurrently, provisions shall be made for a formalized appeals procedure of any Water Board rate-related decisions.

4) The Legislature enact legislation which make the DMWD subject to study by a nationally recognized rate study firm. Purpose of this study shall be to complement the outside audit in order to determine if (a) water and sewer rates currently in force are justified; and (b) to judge the necessity of any proposed water or sewer rate change.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: By the City Council of the City of Romulus does herewith implore, if not demand, that the State Legislature take action forthwith offering legislation to accommodate the aforementioned objectives.

BE IT FINALLY RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be forwarded to the attention of William Milliken, Governor of the State of Michigan, Senator William Faust, Congressman William D. Ford, State Representatives Edward Mahalak and Gary Owen, the Suburban Water Rates Study Committee and surrounding communities of Wayne County.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Lee, Stewart, Trumble, Block, Coleman, McAnally. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

75-478 Motion by Coleman, supported by Trumble, that Council concur with the recommendation of the Mayor and accept the resignation of Edward Rush from Planning Commission. Said resignation to be effective June 10, 1975. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Stewart, Trumble, Block, Coleman, Lee, McAnally. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

75-479 Motion by Stewart, supported by Coleman, that Council concur with the recommendation of the Mayor and grant the request of Walter Papineau for payment of two hundred and ten (210) Comp Time hours. Same to be paid at the rate of $6.70 per hour. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Lee, Coleman, Block, Trumble, Stewart, McAnally. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

75-480 Motion by Block, supported by Coleman, that Council concur with the recommendation of the Mayor and accept the resignations of Margaret Meldrum and Thomas Coleman from the Romulus Ordinance Review Board. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Stewart, Lee, Coleman, Block, Trumble, McAnally. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

75-481 Motion by Trumble, supported by Lee, that Council concur with the recommendation of the Mayor and abolish the Romulus Ordinance Review Board. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Stewart, Trumble, Lee, Coleman, Block, McAnally. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

75-482 Motion by Trumble, supported by Coleman, that Council concur with the recommendation of the Mayor and authorize legal representation for the Mayor and City Legal Counselor, William Munger, in connection with pending litigation (James Stewart vs. Terry L. Troutt and William Munger). Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Lee, Trumble, Block, Coleman, McAnally. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

75-483 Motion by Lee, supported by Trumble, that Resolution 75-483 (Commendation of Romulus Forge Die, Inc., 36115 Goddard):

RESOLUTION 75-483

WHEREAS: The strength of any community is exhibited by that communities individual residents and businessmens initiative to keep step with our changing times; and

WHEREAS: The vintage of that community is characterized by the preservation of the eonian structures situated therein; and

WHEREAS: The Romulus Forge Die, Inc. under the direction of its owner Mr. Donald Brown, has set a commendable example, by its refurbishment of the forge and die shop located at 36115 Goddard Road; and WHEREAS: This accomplishment provides, very real, aesthetic benefits to the citizens of Romulus.

The City Council of the City of Romulus does herewith award its commendation, for outstanding civic services to the City of Romulus, to Mr. Donald Brown and the Romulus Forge Die, Inc.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Stewart, Trumble, Block, Coleman, Lee, McAnally. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Lee, supported by Trumble, that the Chairmans Report be accepted. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Trumble, Stewart, Lee, Coleman, Block, McAnally. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

75-484 6a. Motion by Block, supported by Lee, that the City Attorney's Report be accepted. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Coleman, Block, Trumble, Stewart, Lee, McAnally. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

75-485 6b. Motion by Block, supported by Coleman, that the City Engineer's Report be accepted. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Lee, Block, Coleman, Stewart, Trumble, McAnally. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

Buy a Flag - Fly a Flag on the 4th of July

THE BENNINGTON '76 FLAG, with its unusual arrangement of Stars and Stripes, flew over the military stores in Bennington, Vermont, on August 16, 1777. General John Stark's militia led the Americans in decisively defeating a large British raiding force, thus protecting the precious military supplies at Bennington. This battle improved the morale of the American forces and so weakened General Burgoyne's army as to aid in its capture two months later at Saratoga.

THE BETSY ROSS FLAG — The Continental Congress resolved on June 14, 1777, "that the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes alternating red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation." No design was authorized but by tradition the Philadelphia seamstress Betsy Ross is presumed to have designed this first flag.

56 Signers — all Americans — all pioneers — all rebels in their day — all determined to free their fledgling country from the tyranny of England's King and Parliament.

"——— we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor." The closing words of the Declaration of Independence. How many of us would be so daring, so fool-hardy today?

So, in these Bicentennial Years, let's all break out the flag. Fly it high. Fly it proudly. Fly it to show our respect for the memory of those great 56 men who dared to defy one of the strongest powers on earth so that America might be born and grow into the greatest and most generous country in the world.

We offer at cost as a Bicentennial Public Service a complete home flag kit — a 3 x 5-foot double-stitched heavy cotton flag — a 6-foot jointed 2-piece staff with top ornament — a heavy mounting bracket with three screws — all in a sturdy 2-piece storage carton with full color flag history folder. Order yours today by mail or by stopping in our office. Use coupon for mail orders.

Wedding bells ring for area couples

June vows solemnized

Double-ring vows were solemnized at Church of Christ in Belleville June 21 uniting in marriage Sue Ann Bias and Eric Dolin. The 4 p.m. service was conducted by Minister Paul Drake before 150 relatives and friends.

For the summer wedding the altar was appointed with twin candelabras and arrangements of gladiolas and sweetheart roses, mums and baby's breath.

John Gardner of Ypsilanti was soloist.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Molik of 1335 Molner Court, Ypsilanti, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dolin of 1956 Emerson, Ypsilanti, formerly of Belleville.

Sue Ann chose for her wedding day a gown of ivory moire taffeta enhanced with Alencon lace and seed pearls. A rhinestone crown held her illusion veil and she carried cascading yellow roses and white carnations.

Attending the bride was Pam Gorham of Ypsilanti as matron of honor. She wore a sleeveless A-line dress of double knit fabric and a matching picture hat and held a crescent shaped bouquet of yellow gladiolas, sweetheart roses and mums.

Bridesmaids in yellow double knit gowns with long sleeves and V necklines were Cheryl and Sheena Dolin, sisters of the bridegroom.

They, too, wore soft-brimmed hats and carried bouquets of daisy mums, white carnations, yellow gladiolas and baby's breath.

Two-year old Amy Jo Bias was her mother's flowergirl in a little yellow frock made with short sleeves and a lace-trimmed collar. The basket she held was filled with daisy mums in white and yellow.

The bridegroom's 6-year old brother, Gregory, carried out the role of ringbearer.

Best man was Terence Manning of Wayne. Kevin Crawford and the bridegroom's brother, Scott Dolin, both of Ypsilanti, were ushers.

At the reception which followed in the home of the bride's parents on Molner Court, some 65 guests were greeted by Mrs. Molik in a lavender ensemble and the bridegroom's mother in a green gown.

Sue and Eric, former students of Ypsilanti and Wayne Memorial High Schools, are employed at Parkview Extended Care Facility in Ypsilanti.

Royal Oak shrine is setting for Soehren-Metcalf wedding

A week long honeymoon in Daytona Beach, Fla. followed the recent spring wedding of Sheila Metcalf of Belleville and Martin E. Soehren of Royal Oak. The couple exchanged vows and rings during a 2 p.m. ceremony at Shrine of the Little Flower in Royal Oak.

The May 24 rite united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Metcalf of 45066 Harris Road, Belleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Soehren of 3319 Harvard, Royal Oak.

Candlelight set the mood for the afternoon nuptials with two bouquets of white roses and mums gracing the altar. Adding a colorful touch to the sanctuary were two tall pedestal candelabras with pink roses banked below the candles.

The Rev. Edward J. Prus officiated and John Andrews supplied organ music including the "Theme from Romeo and Juliet."

Sheila, who entered the church with her father, was gowned in a creation of sheer silk organza over taffeta, the little empire bodice being frosted with narrow rows of Venice lace forming a V. The lace motif was repeated on the long sheer sleeves and again on the toe-touching skirt which ended in a self train.

Her silk illusion veil was draped from headpiece of seed pearls on organza with a bouquet of cascading white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath completing her bridal finery.

Preceding the bride and her father up the aisle were six attendants and the flowergirl, Mary Der Stepanian, the 5-year-old daughter of the Peter Der Stepanians of Dearborn.

Wearing pastel colored gowns in pink, green and yellow made by the bride's mother were Denise Metcalf, the maid of honor, who wore pink dotted Swiss in a Victorian style with short puffed sleeves for her sister's wedding; Elizabeth Ferris and Michelle Gibson, both of Wayne, Patricia Jamison of Belleville, Linda Ebling of Detroit, a cousin of the bride; and Judy Soehren of Royal Oak, sister of the bridegroom.

Each wore a satin bow with waist length streamers in her hair and carried nosegays of daisies and roses tipped in the colors of their dresses.

Serving as best man was John Vanderslice of Royal Oak. Others on the esquire side were Frank Janus of Chicago, Ill. and the bride's cousin, Christian Petit of Paris, France; Frank Zehel of Belleville; Bob Urbanski of Ferndale, and Dave Dinsmore of Royal Oak.

Guests of honor at the wedding and reception which followed in the Burgundy Room of the K. of C. Hall in Wayne, were Alfred Natale, the bride's uncle from Paris, France; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Janus and sons and Miss Armik Abram, all of Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Metcalf also made her own gown which was in pale pink chiffon over taffeta embossed with a self floral pattern. The bridegroom's mother chose to wear a pale blue polyester gown with lace trim. Corsages of matching baby roses and white daisies complimented their ensembles.

A 1972 graduate of Belleville High School, Sheila and her husband, a 1973 alumnus of Royal Oak's Kimble High School, are making their home at Westland Towers in Westland.

The bridegroom, who attended Seovec School of Electronics for two years, is employed as manager at Howard Johnson's in Royal Oak.

The young couple played host at the rehearsal party held at Kim's Gardens in Bloomfield Hills.

Chris Armatis is wed at New Boston church

Since their recent spring wedding, the newly wed John R. Saksewski has been living at 1421 Lenmore Drive, Belleville. The honeymoon they postponed is being planned for three weeks in July.

Christine M. Armatis became Mrs. Saksewski in a 5 p.m. ceremony at St. Stephen's Catholic Church in New Boston. The Rev. Alexander J. Wytrawi presided at the double-ring rite before 125 assembled guests. Two vases of yellow mums and blue and white carnations adorned the altar for the May nuptials.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Armatis of 21435 Wilmot Road, Belleville, the bride was escorted to the sanctuary by her father. She chose for her wedding day a bouffant gown of white Chantilly lace designed with leg o' mutton sleeves, a rounded neckline and long peacock train which was later formed into a bustle.

Her fingertip illusion veil was banded in matching lace and she held a semi-cascade bouquet of miniature blue and white carnations, yellow sweetheart roses and white roses encircling a white orchid corsage.

Debra Marie Armatis was her sister's maid of honor.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Saksewski of 1421 Lenmore Drive, Belleville, chose Dennis Michael Jaromin of Belleville to be best man.

The honor attendant donned a halter dress in a blue floral print with a matching cape and a white soft-brimmed hat and held blue carnations and white roses.

Bridesmaids in identical yellow gowns with bouquets in yellow and white were another sister, Cathy Armatis of Belleville; Donna Rochelle and Robin Wilson, both of Belleville; Mrs. Joseph Saksewski of Ypsilanti, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Mrs. Dennis Jaromin and a cousin, Tina Sliwa, both of Belleville.

Whitney Sietz, the 4-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sietz of Trenton, was the petite flower girl in a miniature version of the senior attendants' frocks. The little basket she carried was filled with white roses and blue carnations.

Ringbearer was 4-year old Eddie Springborn, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Springborn of Taylor.

Groomsmen were Frank E. Armatis of Belleville, brother of the bride; Art Belbot and Wally Welch, both cousins of the bridegroom from Warren; Joseph Saksewski, a brother; and Kerry Morris and Bryan Weise, both of Belleville.

The PNA Hall in Belleville was reserved for the reception which followed. The 250 guests were greeted by Mrs. R. Humm of 35630 Lyman Road, Farmington Hills, and late Mrs. Humm.

Her fiance, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Skszek of 49899 Expressway, Belleville, is in his senior year at WMU and expects to graduate this summer with a degree in metallurgical engineering.

Armatis in a blue A-line gown and Mrs. Saksewski, the bridegroom's mother, in a pink gown with a matching floor length coat. Both were presented corsages of pink carnations and roses.

Chris and John both graduated from Belleville High School, she in 1974 and he a year earlier. He is an employee of Ford Motor Co. at Rawsonville.

The rehearsal dinner, held at Vigo's Restaurant in Ypsilanti, was hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

Edna C. Harris attends confab for VFW Auxiliary

Edna C. Harris, president of Huron River VFW Auxiliary Post 4434, was in Lansing June 19-22 to attend the annual state convention of the Michigan Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the Capital Park Hotel.

State president, Jean Karafa of Utica, presided at the largest convention in the state organization's history. Approximately 1,000 officers and delegates were to attend.

Mrs. Karafa was elected to the state presidency at the 47th Annual Convention in Grand Rapids in June, 1974. The Department of Michigan Ladies Auxiliary has a membership of the over 25,500 in 314 local auxiliaries.

Arlene McDermott, national conductress of Penacook, N.H. was the national representative.

Nationwide the auxiliary has more than a half-million members in more than 6,750 local units. Membership is open to qualifying women who are close relatives of men and women who served overseas in wartime.

Included in the convention program were presentation of awards to auxiliaries and chairmen for outstanding promotion of the various auxiliary programs. During the past year, members have devoted many volunteer hours at the state's five VA and four state hospitals as well as local hospitals and rest homes. Bringing cheer and comfort to hospitalized veterans was Mrs. Karafa's prime program for the year.

Other convention activities included a parade, banquet, pageant of drums, memorial services and election of officers for 1975-76.

Nationwide the auxiliary has more than a half-

HAROLD REDISKE, HAROLD REDISKE, JR.—DIRECTORS

No man or nation was ever ushered into a world of perfection with the possible exception of the Garden of Eden—and even then man fell. Admittedly, problems exist in our nation—and elsewhere. But civilization was given instincts, desires, habits, memories, hopes, ideals and intellect with which to meet the challenge of the problems.

As a nation we at least try to do those things which we know we ought to do and especially when justified cries of wrath are heard. Serious problems are seldom solved instantly. This MUST be realized by those who in an effort to correct actual or alleged inequities resort to violence or terrorism. Violence or terrorism in any country, state, national or international scene can spread like a contagion. Those who spread the contagion are carriers of it. They should know, or be harshly shown, as carriers they MUST be contained for the good of all, including themselves and their cause—whatever the cost...

BHS reunion being planned

BELLEVILLE — Belleville High School's class of 1970 will hold its 5-year reunion at Vigo's Restaurant in Ypsilanti Aug. 2. For details and reservations, please call Sharon Smith at 482-3497, Becky Underwood at 697-7484 or C. Sam at 697-6878 by July 12.

BELLEVILLE — The Wayne County Home Economists will hold a work shop from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. June 28 at the 4-H Fairgrounds dining room on Quirk Road. Anyone interested in home canning, freezing or jam and jelly making is invited to attend. Knitting, crocheting and stretch and sew demonstrations will also be given.

BELLEVILLE — The Belleville Kiwanis Club has popcorn for sale and profits are earmarked for the club's newest project, the learning disabilities program. Donation for the four packs of pre-measured popcorn, oil and salt is $1.25 and may be purchased from any Kiwanian or by calling them to place an order.

Early deadline

Because of the July 4th holiday, items for the July 9 Suburban Living pages must be into the Enterprise-Roman office by July 2 (one day earlier than usual.)

Those with brief news items may call Lee Smith that day at 697-9191. Information for lengthy stories must be submitted in writing.

EMU co-ed June bride

The Free Will Baptist Church of Belleville was the setting June 7 for the ceremony which united Linda Ann Reed and Carl J. Taylor, both of Belleville, in holy matrimony.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad T. Reed of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Taylor of Evarts, Ky., are parents of the young couple who are planning a honeymoon to Niagara Falls, Canada in the near future.

The Rev. Billy Brown presided at the double-ring rite at 6 p.m. before an altar graced with vases of white mums and two candleabras.

Mrs. Louis Majors was at the organ to accompany the soloist, Shirley Ramsey, as she sang "Because" and "Each for the Other."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a floor-length gown of silk nylon over satin. The scoop neckline was edged with lace to match that on the long wristpoint sleeves and the flounced hemline.

Linda designed and made her 3-tiered nylon veil which was caught to a Camelot cap of satin studded with pearl. For her bouquet she chose a cascade of white carnations and roses.

The bridal coterie was headed by the maid of honor, Freda Smallwood of Belleville, the bridegroom's cousin. Other attendants were Judy Jones of Belleville; Judy Crosslin of Ypsilanti, the bridegroom's cousin, and Debbie Reed of Belleville, the bride's sister.

Except for the colors, their gowns were identically styled with V-necklines, short puffed sleeves and ruffled hemlines. The floral chiffon print dresses were in pink, violet, blue and green respectively.

As headgear, they wore matching bows ending with long streamers with daisies attached. Multi-colored daisies, carnations, roses and baby's breath were used to form their bouquets.

Flowergirl, in a pale yellow knit frock, was the 5-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Glenn. Randy Dickerman of Ypsilanti was best man with Jack Coleman of Pinckney, Henry Smallwood of Belleville and John Hughes of Ypsilanti as groomsmen.

Nine-year old Brian Barker, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barker, served as ringbearer.

The bride's mother chose to wear a pink gown of chiffon over silk taffeta and the bridegroom's mother a green floral knit gown. Both were honored with corsages of baby roses and white carnations.

The new Mrs. Taylor, who will be a junior at Eastern Michigan University in the fall, is an affiliate of Phi Gamma Nu sorority.

The bride's parents entertained at the rehearsal dinner in their home the evening before the wedding.

New PWP chapter 'church oriented'

"Church-oriented" is the adjective best fitting a new Parents Without Partners chapter in Western Wayne County.

"We organized in answer to the needs of those single parents who are non-drinkers and who follow the Christian principles as set down by their respective churches," according to Wally (Walter) Morris of Wayne, charter president of the chapter.

The organization meeting held recently at the Allen Park United Presbyterian Church attracted 34

Westland, Allen Park, Lincoln Park, Dearborn Heights, Livonia, Belleville, Wyandotte, Woodhaven, Plymouth and Trenton.

The chapter, designated as "Westside Crossroads," follows the formula set up by a similar church-oriented chapter in Royal Oak.

"We hope to get a centrally convenient location," Morris said.

Program plans for the chapter include discussions in groups in homes, special speakers, social gatherings for the family and help with problem situations by experts in various fields.

Toronto is honeymoon choice for newly wed S. Fergusons

Among the area's recent June brides was Sue Ann Bentley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Bentley of 43600 Crowley, Belleville. Miss Bentley exchanged nuptial vows June 21 with Stanley Wright Ferguson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Ferguson of 661 Wharton, Ypsilanti.

Van Buren Township Park was chosen as the wedding site with some 180 guests attending and remaining for the reception which followed.

The Rev. Roger Mills heard the couple's vows at 1 p.m.

Currently on a week-long honeymoon to Toronto, Ont., the newlyweds will make their home in Saline on their return.

Given in marriage by her father, Sue Ann was gowned in an A-line creation of ivory satin with a lace overlay. The scooped-neck bodice featured a ruffled collar and short puffed sleeves with satin ribbon sashings at the high-rise waistline.

A crescent of lace secured her lace trimmed veil which fell to elbow length and a bouquet of white roses and carnations completed her ensemble.

Maid of honor was Ellen Shaughnessy of Ypsilanti who wore a blue A-line cotton frock fashioned with short puffed sleeves and a scoop neckline. Complimenting her dress were a matching picture hat and bouquet of blue daisies and baby's breath.

Attendants in identical gowns in pink and yellow, respectively, were the bride's cousin, Janice Bentley of Garden City; and her sister, Sandra Dee Bentley, who was a junior bridesmaid.

The bridegroom asked his brother, Mark Ferguson of Ypsilanti, to be best man. Daniel K. George of Ypsilanti was usher and 9-year old Gregory Patrick, the son of the Robert H. Fergusons, served as ringbearer.

For the occasion, the bride's mother chose a long aqua gown to which she pinned her corsage of white carnations. A similar corsage was presented to the bridegroom's mother who donned a long peach print dress.

Sue Ann, a 1971 Belleville High School graduate, is attending Washtenaw Community College (WCC) on a partime basis while working for Hydra-Matic at Willow Run. Her husband graduated from Ypsilanti High School in 1969 and also is a partime student at WCC and an apprentice electrician at Hydra-Matic.

The bridegroom's mother entertained at the rehearsal party in her home the evening before the wedding.

Nancy Harris chosen for YCC participation

A Belleville girl, Nancy Harris, 17, who will be a senior at Belleville High School in the fall, currently is enrolled in the Michigan Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) program at its headquarters on Lake Manton, Mich.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harris of 10151 Belleville Road, Nancy was among the 246 students chosen from a field of 7,300 to take part in the program which began June 15 and will continue to July 19.

The purpose of the YCC program is to further the development and maintenance of the natural resources of the United States by employing young men and women to work on conservation projects in the healthful outdoor atmosphere of the National Park System, the National Forest System and other public land and water areas of the Nation.

There are stream banks to clear, trails to build, fish hatcheries to tend, park facilities to construct and trees to plant. Still other areas include animal habitats to study, air and water samples to gather, campgrounds to develop, erosion gullies to check, land to be surveyed and a thousand and one similar conservation projects all vitally needed and all providing opportunities for achieving lasting benefits for the environment.

This is a conservation work program and not the typical summer camp experience that is entirely recreation-oriented.

WINNERS ALL — A sixth-grade St. Aloysius grade school student, Marcela Montes, receives her first place award for drawing the winner '1976 Clean-up Campaign' poster in Romulus. Mayor Terry L. Troutt was on hand to honor (from left) Marcela, Lisa Kraushaar, the second-place winner from the Harrison Elementary School fifth grade; and the two-third-place winners Anthony Lewis of the Hayti Elementary School fifth grade and Ronald Lako of the St. Aloysius third grade for their efforts in their schools. Romulus Council president pro tem Joan A. Lee, the 1975 Clean-up Campaign chairman, was on hand to watch the ceremonies. Each of the winners in the contest received $25 savings bonds for their efforts.

Held at Central

Resident to help in Olympics

Two Belleville residents will be helping as activity chairmen for the fourth International Special Olympics when they take place at Central Michigan University in August.

Don Stabenow and Jean Allen, both employees of the Mt. Pleasant college will be serving as chairmen of the floor hockey event and in the Hospitality Rose Center respectively, during the competition.

Stabenow was born in Ypsilanti and obtained both his bachelor and master of arts degrees at Central. He currently is the assistant intramural director at the college.

Miss Allen was born in Belleville and attended the Lansing Business University before becoming a secretary for the department of special education at the college.

More than 3,000 participants from across the United States and five foreign countries are expected to take part in the games, scheduled for Aug. 8-11.

The program has been set up to provide recreational and athletic competition for the mentally retarded.

The Olympics' committee will coordinate all planning and scheduling for the games, competitive events and sports clinics.

The Belleville Lodge No. 934 of the Loyal Order of Moose recently held an enrollment of new members at the Moose Home. And the Women of the Moose, Belleville Chapter No. 1135 on Sunday held installation of officers and chairman for the coming fiscal year.

A buffet luncheon was served following the installation.

In other Moose matters, Gov. Alvin Carothers and Secretary George W. Steger will be attending the International Moose Convention to be held June 28-July 3 in New York. They will be attending as delegates of the Belleville Lodge No. 934 and will be accompanied by their wives.

Residents are patients

at Beyer Memorial Hospital

It was a busy week for Belleville - Romulus residents listed as patients at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti.

Among the new proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Spedowski of Church Road, Belleville, who are the parents of a baby girl, born June 11 and weighing 8 lbs.-5 oz. Also new parents were Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Buzas of Maple, a 6 lb.-13 oz. baby girl, June 11; and Mr. and Mrs. James Curry Jr. of Edicott, a 7 lb.-14 oz. baby boy, June 12.

The medical patients include Mrs. Walter Dunayczan of Elwell Road, Belleville; Edward Ward, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Ward of Fenster, Belleville; Venus Brach of Maple Drive, Belleville; Linda Baum of Martinsville, Belleville, and Shirley Ethridge of Sumpter, Belleville. James Prewitt of Borgman, Belleville, and Helen Lawson of Barr, Belleville.

The surgical patients were Wiley Sizemore Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Sizemore Sr. of Lohr Road, Belleville; Mary Crum of Fairview, Belleville; Valerie Tidwell of Maple Drive, Belleville; Linda Baum of Martinsville, Belleville, and Shirley Ethridge of Sumpter, Belleville.

Library plans activities

The Romulus Public Library has released its list of activities for youngsters during the summer season.

Beginning tomorrow will be the preschool-story hour which will meet every Thursday through Aug. 28. There will be two classes at 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. for youngsters 3 to 5 years of age.

The summer fun program will begin Friday and will continue on a weekly basis through Aug.

29. Planned for children older than 5 years, the program will be meeting at 10:30 and 11:30 a.m. It consists of arts and crafts, movies, and other projects.

Wrapping up the activities will be a summer reading program also beginning Friday and lasting until Aug. 29.

Those parents interested in enrolling their youngsters in any of the programs offered need only come to the library, located at the corner of Wayne and Goddard Road in the Romulus Civic Center.

30 youth participate in city poster contest

More than 30 youngsters participated in the recent Romulus Clean-up Campaign Committee-sponsored cleanup poster contest.

Headed by Romulus Council President Pro Tem Joan A. Lee, the committee sought a poster from a school child which would best emphasize the efforts the panel hopes to make in 1976 - the city's Bicentennial celebration year.

Selected as the key poster for next year's campaign was an effort by St. Aloysius Elementary School sixth-grade student Marcela Montes. The poster she drew had the message: "Keep Romulus glittering, Avoid Littering."

Other awards offered in the contest included a second-place ribbon for Lisa Kraushaar, a fifth grade student at Harrison Elementary School.

Two third-place awards went to Anthony Lewis of the Hayti Elementary School fifth grade and Ronald Lako of the St. Aloysius Elementary School third grade.

Nearly 30 other youngsters from throughout the community participated in the contest by designing posters on a cleanup campaign theme.

Other participants included Marie Laginess, Marjorie Allison, Gayle Gemmill, Troy Trevarrow, Neeru Sharma, Juan Franklin and Max Lepri.

In addition Jose Antolin, Timothy Lowe, Kathy Boatright, Kenny Mazer, Steven Cafins, Steve Lewkowicz, Andrea Mahone, Andrew Trill, Nancy Stinson, Suzanne Hardwar and Kyle Krueger entered the contest.

Dawn Marie Moth, Johnny Holifield, Terese Godard, Kimberly Doss, Kathleen Stapula, Marc Marsiglia, Ella Ursiny, Amy Yavro, Kim Hubbard and Cynthia Jurczyn rounded out the list of entries.

The children competed for $25 savings bonds and the distinction of designing the poster to be used in the 1976 clean-up campaign.

Each of the children received a certificate of appreciation from Mayor Terry L. Troutt for their efforts.

Troupe to perform

It will be a trip around the world for Romulus youngsters who say the magic words, "abra kadabra, ala kazam," when the Magic Globe Players' Children's Theater pays a visit to the community July 8.

The 4-member troupe which tours the country will take the youngsters to such exotic places as China, Turkey, Denmark, Arabia and the United States, all from a comfortable seat in Romulus' Kennedy Park on Goddard Road.

Stories from foreign lands will be presented through the use of acting, pantomime, music, puppetry and creative dramatics, with a dash of audience participation for good measure. The stories will be presented on a circular stage, allowing the youngsters to be close to the stage and become a part of the action.

The performance by the Globe Players is being hosted by the Romulus

Jaycee Auxiliary. Tickets for the event are available from any auxiliary member and cost 75 cents each, a small price to pay to "see the world."

Three residents gain top grades

Three residents of the Belleville - Romulus community were among students at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant to net perfect marks for the winter semester at the college.

Sheila Oakley of Tobine Road and Dorene Root of Margaret, both seniors from Romulus, and Audrey Miller of Henry, a senior from Belleville, were honored for their scholastic achievements.

Other students from the two communities named to the list for maintaining a B average or better were:

Claudia Alimpich of Michigan Avenue, Belleville; Carolyn Dillingham of Harmony Lane, Belleville; Sharon Patke of Greylock, Belleville, and David Wende of Denton Road, Belleville.

The Romulus resident on the list was Carol McGinnis of Whitehorn.

'Splash-in' to be held to benefit cancer fight

The American Cancer Society's annual "Splash-In-For-Cancer" is being held now through Saturday at the Garden City Municipal Pool, 65000 Midbelt, Garden City.

Swimmers of all ages are encouraged to participate, but sponsor sheets must be obtained at the sponsoring pools or by calling the American Cancer Society office.

Before swimmers can participate in the "Splash-In-For-Cancer" they must have as many sponsors as possible. Each sponsor agrees to pledge a certain amount of money for each length of the pool completed by the swimmer. Sponsor forms will be signed by the pool director or lifeguard.

All proceeds from the annual fund-raising event will help support the American Cancer Society's fight against cancer, through its research, education and service programs.

Sponsor forms can be obtained by calling the American Cancer Society at 273-7060.

Residents stay busy in the armed services

Men and women from the Belleville - Romulus community are finding that military service is keeping them quite busy as they go about their chores during the tours of duty in the armed forces.

Among those in the services are:

Marine Pfc. Frank L. Harris, of 38000 Mott Road, Belleville, has reported for duty with the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing at the Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Pointe, N.C.

A former student of Western High School, Detroit, he joined the Marine Corps in March 1974.

Airman Juan P. Verde, the son of Mrs. Janet M. Verde of 133 Angola St., Belleville, has graduated at Keeler Air Force Base, Miss., from the U.S. Air Force's aircraft navigation equipment repairman course conducted by the Air Training Command.

The airman was trained to install and repair electronic navigation equipment. Completion of the course enables him to receive academic credits through the Community College of the Air Force. He is being assigned to Barksdale Air Force Base, La.
